

Will you give Gloria, a young entrepreneur in Uganda, a chance for a better future? With your contribution you can help her build a successful business!

It makes so much sense to us, doing business and earning your own money is completely normal in many places. Unfortunately, things are different in Uganda. Unemployment is enormous and the chance of building a good life is small. If we can help a young entrepreneur successfully build their own business, we often not only help his or her family, but the community benefits as well. Sounds simple. And that is actually the case for you: we ask you what you can spare, so that we can make more impact with our foundation. This year we will again help 30 people take the next step; will you help and support one or even more of them?

Master2Morrow works towards a world in which young people develop their talent and potential and provide for their own income. Together with local trainers and coordinators, a team of Dutch experts provides training in talent development, business development and women empowerment in Uganda.

“Every year we train local trainers and entrepreneurs so that the oil slick continues to grow. Not only now, but also in the longer term.”

Entrepreneurship helps break the cycle of poverty. People can stand on their own two feet and provide their income. This has a direct positive impact on the local community. That is why we believe in giving starting entrepreneurs the ideas, skills and confidence to escape poverty and realize their dreams.

In addition to the focus on entrepreneurship, we also focus specifically on women with the women empowerment training. We encourage women to find their own strength and self-confidence to give their lives a positive spin. Investing in women has far-reaching impact, because women are more likely to spend their income on the education, nutrition and health of their children. This gives an entire generation a better chance at a better future.

We have been providing training and training local trainers in Uganda for more than 10 years. We have built a strong network and our local partners contribute significantly to our success. In this way, together we make a sustainable, positive impact.
